RECOGNIZING
Words and Letters to Build Brains

Letters and words are all around us! Point them out and make everyday moments Brain Building moments, too!

Post an alphabet chart.
You’ll make letters more recognizable and have a reference when you talk about letters and sounds.

Build sight word awareness.
Label the word “table” or “chair” or “door” so that a whole word is connected with a familiar object.

Go on an ALPHABET HUNT
Letters and words are all around us. Spot them together when you’re shopping, taking a walk, eating in a restaurant or riding in a car, bus or subway.

A Find three letters.
B Count how many times you can find each letter.
C Which letter did you find most?
D Which letter did you find the least?

Tell us how you used these ideas or share some of your own at:
/BrainBuildingInProgress
BrainBuildingInProgress.org

Department of Early Education and Care
United Way